

International Oak Society Service Awards 2025

The International Oak Society Service Awards are attributed to individuals that have devoted significant efforts to the genus Quercus and/or the advancement of the goals of the IOS. The Lifetime Service Award is attributed to individuals we feel have contributed in a significant way throughout their lives and the Special Service Award to those whose contributions are of a more targeted nature. All members of the International Oak Society may propose candidates for consideration for these Awards, and a call for candidates is published in Oak News & Notes during a Conference year.

We never seem to run out of individuals who have devoted themselves to oaks in one way or another, and 2025 was no exception.

Lifetime Service Award: 1. Mark Coggeshall (USA). 2. Shaun Haddock (France).
